IF WE SHOULD NEVER MEET AGAIN.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, BY MONROE H. ROSENFELD.

I gaze within those soulful eyes And read thy heart in every glance; To be near thee is Paradise We met-our meeting was but chance,

And yet the love that fills my heart Shall ever fondly there remain; Oh, dear to me thou still wouldst be If we should never meet again!

CHORUS. Ah, love, the stars would lose their light, And all life's sunshine would be rain, If we should part, my dearest heart, If we should never meet again!

So golden is the passing hour, I cannot think the time might be When, like a frail and withered flow'r, Would perish joys that now I see. And yet I know deep in thy soul
One thought of me would still remain,
And thou wouldst sigh, while days go by, If we should never meet again!

I hold thy loving hand in mine, I listen to thy tender words, The air seems full of bliss divine And melody of warbling birds! Oh, sad the change to thee and me, Oh, dark the dream of endless pain, If we should part, my dearest heart, If we should never meet again!

THE MYSTERIOUS GUEST.

ADAPTED FROM THE GERMAN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER. BY DUDLEY WINTHROP MOORE

Landlord Schmelzer, of the Hotel London, in Dresden, stood at the entrance of his hotel talking to the big bearded porter, who could boast of a smattering of half a dozen languages.

Hotel landlords generally have a hankering for well fed strangers. Why then should Herr Schmelzer make an exception? He was complaining to his porter about the early duliness of business, and expressing his longing for an influx of strangers. when Fritz, the head waiter approached and an unced to him that Lord Strawberry, of No. 7, was suddenly going to leave.

"The devil! Our best guest! What has he got into his head? Moreover, he engaged his room for three months, and they are not nearly up yet! said the usually jovial landlord fretfully.
"My lord is running up and down his room in an excited manner. He seems to be quite disturbed. He demands his bill," added Fritz.

He has probably gone crazy all at once. Make out a good bill for him, Fritz - But wait, come with me," added the cautious landlord, "I'll make out my lord's bill myself."

With these words he disappeared in his private office, followed by the head waiter.

"Well, that will be a fine bill! My lord will be delighted with the way it will strip him of his gold pieces!" soliloquised the porter, going into his Heavy, measured steps were now heard descend-ing the broad staircase of the botel. The porter looked up the same, and saw first of all a pair of coarse, thick soled, brown leather laced shoes moving down from step to step. A pair of wide turned up trousers, with large black and white checks, put in their appearance immediately afterwards. A short jacket of the same pattern, rich in pockets, followed these; and after two decidedly sandy side whiskers, with flowing points, framing a head wearing a so called East Indian helmet hat with a short veil wound round it, had become visible, the lank form of the noble Lord Strawberry came fully in sight.

Doffing his cap with a sweeping bow, the porte stepped respectfully before his lordship.

"Good morning, my lord! Did you sleep well?"
he said to him in German. For Lord Strawberry. known, liked to be addressed in that languag in which he was able to make himself pretty wel understood, although he spoke it with an execrable

"I slept very well-very well indeed," replied his lordship, in the same tongue. "My lord is going to leave us !"

'And yet my lord engaged his room for three months ! "Oh, I will pay for the room for this time, but I am going far away !" With this categorical declaration, Lord Straw berry walked away quietly with measured steps.

About an hour later our black and white checked lord might have been seen in the heart of the city, standing before the large plate glass window of an undertaker's shop examining with a strangely earnest mein the gilded and silvered coffins dis-played there. Finally, after a long inspection, he opened the door and entered the shop. A young man, with a certain corpse like face, which seemed very appropriate to his surroundings, advanced to

"I want to get such a box !" With this answer pointed to one of the plainest, yellow varnished coden coffins. "What's the price of the box?" he asked further, drawing out his well filled blue silk Wouldn't you prefer a first class coffin ?"

"Oh, no! Isn't this box strong and good?"
"Oh, certainly, sir, the coffin is substantially made; if will last forever," replied the cadaverous looking coffin seller, wondering more and more at his strange customer.

You must send the yellow box to room No. 7. Hotel London, to Lord James Strawberry. What's the whole thing worth?" With these words the Englishman threw a gold piece on the shop table, and started, without waiting for anything further charge of the whole burial ?" The Englishman turned his head slowly and said, with an indescribable look of disgust:

pale faced young man looked after him, shaking Well, I have never come in contact with anything like that before! He left me, moreover, a nice little heap of change for myself! So good luck to him and his coffin! I'll see that it goes to its destination at once."

An elegant, black varnished, four wheeled, one horse covered wagon stopped before the Hotel suspense. Things had been pretty animated in the hotel that date. The mysterions coffin affair had long assed to be a secret; the hotel servants lor sed to be a secret; the hotel servants bid it and of it, one after another; then it had been whispered among the guests, and more than one pair of curious eyes had looked cautiously into the gloomy beggage room to get a glimpse of the strange yellow coffin.

"The Englishman is coming !"
This rather too loud cry from the porter standing at his post electrified almost the whole hotel. The first one at the entrance was Landlord Schmelzer with thoughtful faces the landlord and porter himself, looking very white and nervous.

After these words my lord ascended the stairs and entered room No. 7, which the waiter had already opened.
"Oh, where is the yellow box I bought? I wish the yellow box sent to my room at once

The new order the waiter had understood well enough; yet he scarcely dared to let the landlord know about it. Schmelzer, however, relieved him of his embarrassment, by asking him, when he came downstairs again, whether Lord Strawberry had mentioned his yellow coffin.

The waiter's communication decided the landlord to let the Englishman have his "yellow piece of furniture" in his room, whither it was soon carried by two robust servants, shaking their heads mysteri-ously. But at the same time mine host Schmelzer sent to his friend the inspector of police. In consequence of which there appeared soon afterwards two uniformed giant forms. At ten paces already the experienced landlord noticed the gigantic thirst, which faithfully accompanied the two worthy guardians of the peace. Instructed by their chief, the robust and fearless heroic figures betook themselves to their post of observation, which the land-lord pointed out to them in the two adjoining rooms of the fatal No. 7, where he particularly called their attention to the open keyholes of the doors. Two well filled tankards of genuine kulmbacher and two plates full of bread and limburger soon made their appearance, to the evident satisfaction of the brave spies, who, seated in silence at a tacle, with the gas turned down low, rapidly laid waste the refreshments.
One hour after another went by without any especial event happening. Lord Strawberry had, indeed, called the room waiter to him often enough, and now the latter had letters to carry to the nearest letter box, now one bottle of wine after the other to fetch. In the hotel itself the principal movement was confined to the rooms down stairs, where the curious servants were waiting for the things that would happen up in the much talked about No. 7.

The hotel proprietor however, ran every hour more excited out of one room into the other.

At last the clock struck eleven. Babylon lay in silent peace! The midnight hour had scarcely come, when all at once an unearthly pounding and thundering a ghost like scurrying to and fro, be-gan in room No. 7. At the same time the listening landlord thought he heard the report of a revolver a frightful thump, as if a human form had sud denly come in violent contact with the floor, followed the strange noise which rang through the passage ways.

The police officers started up jout of their kulmbacher dream pictures, and tore as if possessed on the doors leading into room No. 7, while the hostier, who had been stationed by the landlord before the door in the passage way, stood ready at his post, armed with a heavy wood axe. The porter, the head waiter, the room waiter, and the other subor-dinate servants connected with the hotel had rushed to the spot, and even the guests of the house soon began to lend their presence to the nocturnal scene, which promised to be rich in surprises.

The fat Schmeizer was bathed in anxious sweat. and, as through the doors of room No 7 there came several inarticulate sounds, he gave his faithful hostler the command for the attack; that is to say, he should burst in the door, which was boiled fast on the inside, as the Englishman would not voluntarily surrender his fortress.

The lock—nay, the door gave way; it lay smashed and battered before the eyes of the spectators. At the same time the two side doors, shaken under the mighty kicks of the lively policemen, also burst in with a crash.

There slood, in red drawers, with the East Indian helmet on his head, holding in each hand a revolver ready to fire, our Lord James Strawberry, before the coffin, half filled with articles of clothing, and which he doubtiess with great pains and exertions, had placed upon two chairs.

"What do you wish? Do you want my money? I will shoot every one down!" roared the stormed

The landlord saw all at once the whole situation Oh, your lordship, pardon us! We thought you wished to do yourself harm, and even to shoot or hang yourself !

Why should I shoot or hang myself?" asked the lord, once more relapsed into his old phiegm.

"Because," explained the hotel proprietor now-because my lord bought that yellow coffin, and be cause you often repeated that you were going away, ery far ! This made us all mistaken. Oh, forgive us, noble lord !

"Oh, how stupid! Very stupid! I bought the box to lay my frock coats and trousers in. You don't have to foid them, and can keep them smooth so. The box is a good trunk to hold the clothes well. and I am going on a long journey-very far away -to Siberia !"

The next afternoon Lord James Strawberry took his departure from the Hotel London, with the yellow "box," which had given rise to so much trouble, displayed on the top of the back, where the backman had been willing to carry it only after a great deal of persuasion and a generous gratuity.

And a few days later the German papers told how ter, a certain Lord James Strawberry, who was traveling with a strange looking yellow comn for a trunk, and whose eccentricities had become so marked of late that his family in England had decided to have his mental condition inquired into London. The driver and another man, both dressed in black, got down from the box, opened the hind door of the wagon and brought to view a yellow wooden coffin.

Be off with you! This is no burial place!" cried the porter to the two men, as he stood at his post watching for the arrival of strangers.

"Don't get excited, my good fellow," replied one of the undertaker's men; "the coffin was ordered to be sent here. An Englishman—a sort of my lord, Schtrauberre, or whatever he may call himself, bought the coffin at our place, and we are to deliver it here in room No. 7. That's the way the matter stands, my good porter !

With these words the driver handed the porter a ticket, "You see, here it is in black and white," he

The porter took the ticket, and, sure enough there was the address: "Lord James Strawberry, Hotel London, room No. 7."

The porter expressed his feelings in a string of profane words. "What's the matter?" said the landlord's voice beside him suddenly, cutting him short. "Why are you swearing like a trooper? Hollo! what the devil is this yellow coffin here for-in front of our hetel Away with you—this is no receiving vau't!"

But all this did not help the roused landlord any.
The porter handed him the ticket. Placing his gold eve glasses on his nose, he read aloud, turning quite pale: "Lord James Strawberry, Hotel London, Meanwhile both the men lifted the fatal coffin wholly out of the wagon and asked for room No. 7. The landlord took off his hat and passed his handkerchief several times over his freely perspiring forehead. "What's to be done, Naumann?" he said to the porter. "What's to be done? We can't let this ill omened piece of furniture be carried to the Eng-"Still, we had better receive it, it seems to me, replied the porter, "particularly since the Englishman hasn't paid his bill yet. Let it be taken to the baggage room for the present." Oh, God! Oh, God! the reputation of my hotel now watched the undertaker's wagon roll away in | the distance.

"Yes, yes, sir," began the porter, in an earnest tone, "the Englishman is up to something here He's going away, he says—very far—who knows how far he may go, and yet how near he may remain to us?

The landlord was silent; he was weighing the porter's words in his mind. "Do you mean, Nau-mann?" he asked, finally—"do you think he will do so?" At the same time he went through the motions of a person hanging himself and cutting his throat.

"Who knows ?" said the porter gravely. "I, for my part," he continued, "always regarded the Eng lishman as three-quarters crazy !

At that moment Fritz, the head waiter, joined the wo. When he heard what had happened, he declared that he also had looked upon the English-man as something more than nervous, and in consequence of these remarkable preparations he must surely be bent on suicide.
"That must in any case be prevented. He may hang himself and kill himself where he will, only not in my hotel. But what's to be done? Indeed it would be different had he paid his bill already He could then be told that his room had been en gaged again, and there was none other vacant for him. But as the matter stands - Ah, There goes my friend, the inspector of police!

run over and ask his advice. Suiting the action to the word, the worried landlord hastened across the street, and seizing the in-spector by the arm, poured into his ears all he knew about the dark affair.

"H'm!" said the inspector, when he had finished, "that certainly has a serious look. You had better watch the Englishman. But don't be hasty my dear Schmelzer; be cautious otherwise there migh be a devilish bad row, and heavy damages to As soon as he returns let me know at once. Then will send you for every emergency two able bodied policemen. But, as I said, be cautious—very cautions, Schmelzer-do nothing rash."

An open carriage rattled nearer and stopped in front of the Hotel London. In one corner of the vehicle sat our Lord James Strawberry. The helmet hat with the veil rested further on his nape than necessary. His left zrm was loaded with various packages; a rather thick hand rope lay on From the outer right hand side pocket of his checked coat there protruded the barrel of a re volver, while the blade of a dagger like knife flashed steel white from under his half open vest.

At the sight of the death dealing weapons the porter turned pale, and in the solid hemp rope he already saw in his mind's eye the long legged. frame of the poor Englishman swinging to and fro from the transom of room No. 7. Nevertheless, he helped the noble Englishman out of the carriage, while the landlord stood there motionless, with a grave face, as if more resigned to what might Fritz, the head waiter, also stood by the door of the entrance, ready to offer his services. Even the room waiter had placed himself in the background. The various packages, as well as the ominous rope, were now taken from his lordship and conscientiously carried in advance of him to room No. 7. "Oh, I say, you, porter—send up a good supply of paper and envelopes to my room. Have you made ut my bill ? Now the landlord stepped up to his mysterious guest. He had made up his mind to talk impressively into his conscience: "My 1-r4," he began,

CHICAGO, Aug. IS.—The Tivoil, with its excellent opera company, has all the best of the business which is ordinarily directed toward the regular priced houses. The performance that this company is giving is far above the average, and public appreciation of its merit is merely a question of time.... The Lincoin opened, and a good house, when "The Brand of Cain" was presented for the first time, and the impression created was favorable... Fair sized audiences were entertained at the Albambra and Academy.... 'Vaudeville at the Chicago and Hopkins' drew the usual big audiences... Low prices at the Schiller served to attract good houses, and the opening performances of "The Bell of Corneville."...... At the roof gardens there has been a large attendance, owing to the record breaking temperature. Good bills are presented at each of the gardens. The temperature has changed decidedly for the better and the outlook for the week is good.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—At the Grand Opera House last night the Castle Square Co. sang "Il Trovatore" to a big house. The opera was presented in first class style...."Human Hearts" drew an excellent house to the National, a big improvement over Saturday night.....Forepaugh's had two good houses to see the stock company in "The Eusign.".....The Bijou, with the chiematographe and a strong vaudevitie bill, was crowded yesterday, as usual....."The Devil's Auction" drew another good house to the Auditorium.....The May Howard Burlesque Co. gave two performances at the Lyceum yesterday, to good business....The Kensington Theatre opened its doors yesterday, when Seymour's Gay New Yorkers gave a matinee and evening performance. The theatre was well filled at both performances.

Billed at both performances.

St. Lovis, Aug. 18.—Fair and hot weather helped the Summer gardens Sunday, "Fra Diavolo" opened to immense audiences, and was well rendered and received....., Vaudeville at Bellevie Garden and Hoehn's Park Theatre, and minstrelsy at Forrest Park Ilighiands and Suburban Park drew well...... The closing of the Summer opera season at Unrig's Cave was marked by a magnificent production of "The Mascot." A social hour was enjoyed by the performers afterward with their many friends and admirers. Most of the company left Monday for the East.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 17.—On account of a sensational sermon preached here last night by the Rev. Dr. Monk, of the Mulberry Street Methodist Church, the Mayor ordered Putzell's Vaudeville Theatre closed. Chicago.—Temperature of high degree need have no terrors either now or in the continuous performance to come for those who sizzled in Chicago last week. It was a record breaker, and under the circumstances it is not necessary or pleasant to chronicle how the theatrical business was affected. The outlook is pleasing, barring a feeling that things may be overdone on account of the country being long on agitation of the silver question and a little short on the silver itself. The houses that have opened, the Alhambra and the Academy, did not do much business last week, but for that matter there were none of the houses that did. The Tivoli did not draw many people, but delighted those who did attend, and the house needs only the patience to wait a few weeks for better conditions, when it is sure to show a profit. The company is excellent and the accommodations of the place are of a kind calculated to draw the best class of patronage. The Lincoln tempts rate with a new play this week, and will defy fate next week with "The Smurgelers." The list of attractions to come later in the season are the best that has ever been secured for the Lincoln, and reflects credit on the manager, Jas. S. Hutton. A new departure in the concert hall line will be the opening of the Royal next week. This house is at the corner of Cotton Grove Avenue and Thirty ninth Street, and will be the most pretentious place of amusement that the South Side has ever had. Robert Blei, who, since he came here from Portland, Ore, a year ago, has been successfully managing the Orpheus, is responsible for the Royal. Billy Robinson will be the director. Of the down town houses McVicker's opens Aug. 30, with "In Mizzoura." The Grand opens 23, with Digby Bell, in "A Midnight Bell." The West Side Hugkins opens next Sunday. From these active preparations it would seem that the managers do not fear hard times or Presidential compaigns, and they should know.

NEW JERSEY.

Elizabeth.—At the Lyceum Theatre Tony Pastor gave the inaugural performance for the season of 1896-7, to a small audience, Aug. 12. McIntyre and Heath, in their new comedy drama, "Dixle Land," had a small audience. This company opened at Asbury Park and played Red Bank, to small business. The company is strong and the plot gives McIntyre and Heath ample scope. The audience was pleased. To arrive: "A Baggage Check" 19, Nelly McHenry 22, Edward Harrigan 27, "Side Tracked" 29.

Drake Opena House.—The last Drake Summer night's concert was given 14, to a large audience. This theatre was put up for sale by the Sherin 12, but the sale, on the plea of the bondholders, was adjourned to Sept. 9. In the meantime the theatre is being remodeled, as it will be bought in by the mortgagees.

Tips.—During the performance of Tony Pastor's Company at Asbury Park Manager William Henry, of the company, fell through an open trap door, sustaining a dislocated shoulder. It took three men to pull the shoulder in place. Mr. Henry was able to join the company the next day. Elizabeth .- At the Lyceum Theatre Tony Pas-

WILLIAM S. CLIFFORD

Was born at Urbana, O., Jan. 23, 1869, and first ag peared upon the stage in his native city, in January, 1881, with an amateur minstrel company, doing a snare drum specialty. His ability in that line snare drum specialty. His ability in that line attracted the notice of Manager Hi Henry, who signed him to play the snare drum in the band and work in the big eight song and dance, with his minstrel show, during the season of 1882. During the Summers of 1883-34 he traveled with the John Robinson Circus, playing the snare drum in the female band. George Fuller Golden and Mr. Clifford formed a partnership for the purpose of playing variety houses, in 1885, and for three years they toured the West and South, Mr. Clifford going with Miles Orton's Circus during the Summers of 1885-87. When Ringling Brothers made their circus a railroad show, in 1885, he was with the show, closulg in the Fall to join Sim Williams in an act, in which they appeared through the West during the next two years. He joined Al. G. Field's Minstrels for the season of 1890, as a feature of the regimental first part, doing his snare drum specialty. On July 28, 1891, at Buffalo, N. Y., he married Maud Huth, and in September, 1892, first attempted a sketch with his wife, appearing later in the same year at Tony Pastor's Theatre, then making his first appearance before a New York audience. They visited the principal variety houses during the remainder of that season, and in 1894 signed with Manager Pastor for the Fall tour of his road company, continuing with that show during its Spring and Fall tour in 1895. On 10, of the current month, they opened with Manager Pastor at Long Branch, N. J., for the Fall road season of twelve weeks, at the expiration of which they will join Harry Williams' Own Co. for the remainder of the current season. Clifford and Huth are too well known as performers to demand an extended mention of their excellent act, but it would seem appropriate to mention that firs not excelled on the vander dipetage, and his interests in the profession. An instance of his enterprise was shown last Summer when he rented, from Manager Pastor, a large bill board, near Union Square, in this city, maintaining thereon a stand of bills advertis attracted the notice of Manager Hi Henry, who signed him to play the snare drum in the band and

MISSOURI.

St. Louis.—This week marks the close of the Summer theatres, to a great extent, and next week Col. J. D. Hopkins will inaugurate as associated as the Grand, with an excellent stock company, in continuous show, and the Five Fredericks as the feature of the vaudeville. Havlin's Theatre will open the same day, Aug. 23, with "Coon Hollow." This theatre has undergone most thorough renovation, and is now one of the finest theatres in this city. The Olympic, Hagan's, Standard and the Fourteenth Street house will open in September. Uhrig's Cavr.—It is with regret that patrons of this most popular Summer opera house consign it to Winter darkness. The last week, with "The Mascot," was made the most notable by the impersonation of Farmer Rocco by Gertrude Lodge. It is conceded that she is the first female who has ever essayed this role, and it has been conceded by local critics that the part could not have been por-trayed better. The season has been fairly success-ful at the cave, but not so much so as the superior ompany secured by Manager Frank McNeary de-erved. Most of the members of it will leave for the East, to fill Winter engagements, on Monday. Koerner's Garden.—"Olivette" was ably pre-sented and well received last week. "Fra Diavo-" this week.

HOHEN'S PARK THEATRE.—After a successful in itiatory season this park will close this week with the following people: West and Fisher, Morrison and Markey, John Coburn, Lew F. Shaw, Carew and Hayes, Kane and Chester.

Variety and Minstrelsy

CHARLES K. HARRIS. the well klown composer and publisher, earnesily requests professionals to read his announcement in this week's CLIPPER. The coming season he expects to issue the best variety of songs he has ever written. As the season progresses each singer using any of his ballads he states will be duly advertised by him in connection with the songs, in the business columns of this paper. For the past six years he has issued one or more descriptive song his every year. As Mr. Harris states, "singers are always looking for good songs, and managers of vaudeville houses are at all times delighted to engage a singer who has the courage to sing new songs, especially the ballads that please the audience. The song makes the singer, and advances his fame and salary. My songs are always pure in sentiment, and can be sung anywhere without fear of offending any lady audience. At the present day a song, to make a hit, must be pure in tone, sweet in barmony, rich in sentiment, and strictly original; then it is bound to be a success." Mr. Harris extends his thanks to his many professional friends who have sung his songs the past years, and he hopes and trusts that this season's list of ballads, descriptive songs and negro ditties will prove as great successes as those of former years. Professionals playing Milwaukee are invited by Mr. Harris to have all of their mail addressed to his office, and make his studio their headquarters, where he will be pleased to see them, whether they sing his songs or not. His new music rooms, which will be handsomely furnished, will be completed Oct. 15, when due notice of same will be given. He is now at the old address, 207 Grand Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

TOM N. KRESHAW, planist and arranger, was a CLIPPER caller Aug. 15. He has been in the city, rehearsing and arranging Ed. F. Rush's Enterprises, "White Crook" No. 1, and "Excelsior." He opened at Keith's Bijou, Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 17.

NOTES FROM AL. G. FIRLD'S BIG WHITE MINstrels.—The Al. G. Field American Minstrels and "Utopia" opened at Newark, O., Aug. 16, to a large and enthusiastic audience. It is safe to say no company ever opened under such auspicious circumstances, notwithstanding the intense heat. The audience was a fashionable one, and showed their delight at the feast of entertaining delicacies offered, by tumultuous applause. Mr.
Field's first part, "The Court of Momus," is the grandest spectacular opening ever offered in minstrelay, costumes, scenery, lights and all the embelishments being perfect, and was pronounced by the public the prettiest stage picture ever seen.
The ends were taken care of by Lew Sully, Neil O'Brien, Kenno and Welch and Al. G. Field, each one scoring success. Dan Quinlan, America's premier interlocutor, presided gracefully in the centre and sustained his title. The singers, under the direction of Will Walling, rendered the choicest gems in a manner which reflected great credit upon the painstaking efforts of Mr. Walling, and the dancing contingent covered themselves with glory in the dance of the "Brownles," and proved that Mr.
Field made no mistake in engaging Tommy Carey to stage his dancing productions. Eddle Fox and his splendid orchestra were in fine trim and his peculiar speciality scored its usual success. The olio of specialities is a very strong one, embracing Oille Young, Kenno and Welch, Frank La Mondue, Eddie Fox and Lew Sully. Every act was a decided success. The new version of "Utopia," introducing Mr. Field's dancing horses, Belle and Sultan, went with a dash and vim that stamped it as the best closing feature ever connected with a minstrel show. Mr. Field believing in the old saying, "harder the times, harder the effort," has put on a performance that can be pronounced without exageration the finest seen in years, and deserves the success that is sure to reward his efforts. Al. G.
Field is sole owner and manager, Dan Quinlan stage director and Joe R. Rieder treasurer. The

quisste minsh of all their belongings. The show is booked solidity, and if energy, enterprise and business sagacity deserve any reward, Al. G. Field deserves to have his name unfurled on the topmost pinnacle of success.

Notes from T. E. Miaco's City Club Burlesque Co.—The opening, which occurred at the Monumental Theatre, Baltimore, Md. Aug. 15, Dresented the most bewildering effect upon the packed house which greeted us that has ever been witnessed by a burlesque company in a variety theatre. Manager Miaco had promised the local managers a revolution for the coming season so far as scenery, pretty girls and gorgeous costumes are concerned, and to say he has more than lived up to same would be putting it mildly, as our scenery alone will surpass many of the so called high class in every respect, as the names to follow will show, including Nellie Walters, Fields and Wolley, Tom Nolan, Gracie and Reynolds, and Ray Bixley. The curtain raiser finds the "City Club at the French Ball," with our burlesquers, Fannie Everett, Carrie Follon, Ruby Marion, Sophie Erha, Mile. Mureai, Olile Atherton, Gracie Langiey, Cora White, Helen Catdwell, Minnie Arnold, Isabelle King and Carrie Williams. Our burlesque, a satire on "The Sporting Duchess," written by Frank Dumont, promises to be a big go. The business department remains the same as last season: T. E. Miaco, sole proprietor and manager; Robert Fulton, business manager; C. G. Ball, treasurer; Ed. Mueller, musical director; Frank Casey, master mechanic, and Geo. Lyons, electrician.

Charles Frohman's Empire Theatre Co. in repertory, is the next attraction at the Los An geles Theatre, appearing 25-29......It is reported that the Burbank Theatre has changed hands and Cincinnati.-With half baked humanity panting for breath and the zephyrs as hot as a remi-niscence of the Sahara, the theatrical season of 1896-97 was ushered in. There will be two mem-bers of the school of experience next week, and, unless breezes commence to blow, the tuition fees unless breezes commence to blow, the tuition fees to be paid by these managerial shovers of the season will be a pretty penny. It has actually been so torrid that the outdoor resorts have surfered, and the idea of theatricals indoors revives memories of joys in a Turkish bath. There is a pretty little fight on between two of the caterers to Summer amusement seekers. When the Zoo and Chester Park presented rival Indian Shows some weeks ago the clash was simply noted as a coincidence. During the past week the announcement by Chester Park of the presentation of "Cincinnati One Hundred Years Ago;" was followed by objective that "Historical Cincinnation of "Cincinnation Hundred Years Ago" was followed by Zoo posters that "Historical Cincinnation would be given there. The Chester Park spectacle was planned by Ned Ziegler several years ago, and there was some talk of organizing a stock company and presenting it on the old campus of the Order of Cincinnation. Cincinnatus. It is a production requiring hundreds of people, and 72,200 feet of canvas have been used in the preparation of scenery used. As may be imagined, the Zoo's adoption of a similar name has occasioned much bitter comment. ROBINSON'S OPERA HOUSE .- "A Barrel of Money

Cleveland.—Two more weeks and the faithful follower of Summer entertainment in all its different forms will seek amusement in the downtown portion of Cleveland. All in all, it has been a successful season, Mr. La Marcke, with his Garden Treatre Co., perhaps scoring the most notable stages. Hard, carnest-work has marked the production of every opera, and each method of the company deserves praise.

Haltnorth's Gardens.—Last week's bill, "The Beggar Student," although served with a dressing of rain on the opening night and uncertain skies for the rest of the week, had plenty of hearers. Douglas Filint made a splendid Ollendorf, and Mark Smith left nothing to be desired as Symon. Instead of "Nanon" "The Bohemian Girl" will be the bill for the week of Aug. 17, to be followed by "Giroffe-Giroffa."

The Cleveland.—The big. popular priced St. Clair Street house inaugurated its Fall season with "A Barrel of Money." Considering the fact that the company opened its season here it did remarkably well. Some good specialties are contributed by Gracle Emmett, Louise Truxa and others. "Dangers." Cleveland .- Two more weeks and the faithfu Mansfield.—At Lake Park Casino the bill for last week included Florence Townsend, Joseph Hardman, Hodgking sand Leith, Gertle Cochran and Prof. Abt. This week the Six Rinehart Sisters, in "The Wait's Luck," and Lester and Williams.

MEMORIAL OPERA HOUSE.—"Town Topics" was presented to a small house Aug. 14. This was the opening date of the season at this house. "The Devil's Auction" comes 29.

Sandusky.—Clark, trapezist, and Kate Rooney, in character changes, entertained the patrons of Cedar Point Pleasure Resort week of Aug. 9......
For week of 16 new faces will be the Gotham City Quartet and La Vans, acrobats. Business is excellent.

Zanesville.—At Maplewood Park the new faces for week of Aug. IT will be: Eva and Bob McGinly, Alf Norton and the Leary Sisters.

Salt Lake City.—The Arper Stock Co. has cound much favor with the patrons of the Lyceum, and is appearing nightly in repertory, to good business. "From Sire to Son" was put on Aug. 6, and has had good business.

SALTAIR BEACH .- The big production of "The SALTAIR BEACH.—The big production of "The Carnival of Madrid" at this bathing resort marks almost an epoch in the amusement history of Utah. Besides the scenic and pyrotechnical effects which take place on the immense platform over the water there will be some very clever specialty and chorus work. The following is the list of the specialty people: Johnson and Lundin, strong men; La Rose Bros., acrobats; Walter W. White, trick bicycle riding; Ceballos, high wire; La Verne Bros., return act; Van Ness and Veda, grotesques; Eddie Russell, acrobat; Tillie Russell, novelty dancer; Mons. Furber, slide for life; Abdalla Jacobius' troupe of fifteen Arabs; Mile. Glovini, premier danseuse, and a ballet of Sixty.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston .- Last week was one of intense heat in this city, and the weather condition had its due effect upon the few amusement resorts now open. The attendance at all of them was notably small.

GRAND THEATRE.—Under the personal super-vision of General Manager Wm. McAvoy, the Grand Theatre (formerly the Grand Museum) has been en-tirely reconstructed, and is now one of the hand-somest show houses in this town. The architec-tural alteration of the house is most radical, the entrance now being on a level with the extent. somest show houses in this town. The architectural alteration of the house is most radical, the entrance now being on a level with the street, instead of, as in the past, by climbing a flight of steps. The weekly presentation of sterling comedy-dramatizations, combined with the best vandeville talent in the profession, will constitute the policy of the management and the future of the house is certainly of a golden hue. For the current week Manager McAvoy announces A. L. Scammon's four act comedy drama, "Side Tracked." in which E. H. O'Connor will appear in the leading role. The variety features will be provided by Evans an! Vidocq, Burns and Coakley, Murphy and Mack, Swan and Bambard, Bertha Brush, Mile. Turnour, Allcoate and Wild, Maud Detty, M. C. Drew and James Macy.

KEITH'S NEW THEATRE.—The "Laving Pictures," as produced under General Manager Albee's supervision during the past week, have proven one of the strongest attractions ever presented to Boston theatregoers, and made an instantaneous success. Another stellar card is the presentation of "living photographs" in the Lumiere Chematographe, by which new pictures are presented every week. The vaudeville list for week of Aug. 17 includes Fred Hailen, Molly Fuller, Bonnie Thornton, the Bros. Detroit, John J. Burke, Grace Forrest, Master W. J. Peabody, A. O. Week 'Olivette' will be sung.

NATIONAL THEATRE.—The National opened its NATIONAL THEATRE.—The National opened its doors for the season 15, presenting Hal Reid, in "Human Hearts." A fair sized audience was in attendance and the play proved as successful as it did at the same house last season. The leading roles were played by Hal Reid and Bertha Belle roics were payed by Hai Reid and Bertha Belle Westbrook, supported by a good company. "Human Hearts" continues throughout this week, giving three matinees. Next week, "Gotthold's Gigantic Gathering of Carefully Chosen Celeptitles."

FOREPAUGH'S THEATRE.—Forepaugh's Theatre

began the season with a matine, 15. The attrac-tion was the Stock Co., in "The Ensign," and the house was completely filled at both the afternoon and evening performances. The company is strong throughout and worked well together, giving a smooth, even performance. All the principals re-ceived floral offerings on their appearance. "The Ensign" continues as the attraction this week, with a matinee every day. Next week "The Danites" will be put on.

KEITH'S UNION SQUARE THEATRE. - Up to the nsual standard of excellence is the bill chosen for the current amusement of devotes of continuous vandeville, and the management had reason to be well satisfied with the volume of business the offer-ing attracted on Monday, Aug. 17, the standing room having teen filled to overflowing afternoon and night. Heading the list of features in the bill are Stinson and Merton, a brace of adept mirth proand night. Heading the list of features in the bill are Silnson and Merton, a brace of adept mirth provokers, and in testimony of their cleverness it can be recorded that the audience was kept in a continual uproar during their time upon the stage. Mr. Silnson possesses a ready wit, always put to the best advantage, and in Miss Merton has a skillful foll, making in all an act far removed from the average. Geo. Fuller Golden, with an act reinning-and of past and present performers, was applauded to the echo for his witicisms and entertaining ability: Carl and Louis Fenz made an excellent impression through the excellence of their vocalisms, and the Valdares, trick 'cyclists, were accorded their usual friendly greeting. The splendid act presented by Loring and Lesie created an immediate success—a well deserved distinction. Miss Lesile is possessed of undoubted talent, makes her juvenile impersonation entirely consistent, and deserves great credit for the really excellent pertrayal. Will F. Denny scored strongly with his sweet singing, the De Forrests danced themselves into favor and Mazuz and Mazet made excellent headway with their clever acrobatic setch. Others who entertained were the Whitney Brothers. Ben T. Dillon, Mand Beall Price, the Quaker City Quartet, and Riley and Hughes. New pictures introduced in the cinematographe included "The Premier Dancer" and "The Swans," which, with the several old favorites retained, constituted a most agreeable portion of the entertainment. Next week comes Sidney Drew and Gadys Rankin, Hines and Remington, and the Brothers Nighton, hree sets of ever welcome favorites.

Toxy Pastron's Theatres.—A Curtis Bond's Kineoptikon, a new factor in the contingent of animated picture projectors, was shown at this house Monday, Aug. 17, and, while the initial displays mated picture projectors, was shown at this house Monday, Aug. 17, and, while the initial displays cannot be said to have been wholly successful, there seems no good reason to doubt that, after a few more presentations, the machine will show to advantage in comparison with its predecessors. Iew more presentations, the machine will show to advantage in comparison with its predecessors. At present the effects are not wholly agreeable, but the scientific possibilities of its usefulness seemed to be thoroughly appreciated by the andience, as the appliance was generous. Topping the vaudeville bili are Sager and Fannie Midgely, with their ever welcome and invariably intensely amusing juvenile sketch, and, although seen here but a few weeks ago, their friends gave no evidence of falling interest. Their act made a hit, and well deserves credit for doing so. Canfield and Carleton bounded into favor from the start of their act, and left the stage with the audience fully convinced of their ability and making known their convictions in applause. The Metropolitan Trio sang their way to the good graces of all, their time upon the stage resulting in a vast amount of amusement. The silvers entered upon their second week and won strong favor, Mr. Silvers' singing voice being very melodious, and, with the accompaniment of very striking pictures, forming an act thoroughly solertaining. On the current—bill silso are Casey and Le Clair, in their excellent Irish sketch; Mabel Russell, a serio comic of ability; Curtis and Gordon, in a boxing act; Lancaster and Collins, dancing adepts; Billy Carter, on the banjo; Chas, and Lottle Fremont, as "The East side Couple," and the Travelles, Omene's act of ledgerdemain was one of the most pleasing numbers on the bill, a neat stage setting, and her adept way of doing things forming an agreeable combination. The house was packed to its standing room limit, and the audience showed plainly its satisfaction.

Procton's Pleasure Palace.—Along with the cool weather come the theatregoing crowds, and Mr. Proctor's cosy double auditorium held a large cool weather come the theatregoing crowds, and Mr. Proctor's cosy double auditorium held a large proportion of them on Monday evening, Aug. 17, when an attractive programme was unrecled to general hearty applause. Fialkowski, the Russian mimic and animal infilator, was well received, and mimic and animal infilator, was well received, and his "animal talk" was readily recognized. James Richmond Glebroy's pieasantties caused much laughter. Ben F. Grinnell and Charles Fostelle introduced a novel specialty. Their singlag, dancing and burlesque on "Triloy" closed the performance very satisfactorily. May Lovington rendered serio comic selections. Louise Montrose's songs, impersonations and dancing created a favorable impression. The Dilion Brothers parodized on familiar songs, scoring many points. Ed. B. and Rolla White presented their interesting boxing and bag punching exhibition, well put on. Valide Egar, singing soubrette; S. W. Tony, bleycle expert; Grace Sherwood in character changes, Herbert and Kola, elastic demons; May Wentworth, comedienne; Merose and Elmar, character change duettists, and Mason and Healy, the "one and a half," in their laughable specialty, completed the interesting bill. The Garden of Falms and German Concert Hall were well patronized after the performance and during intermission.

many theatregoers amusen ntward Aug. 17, and this cosy house secured its fu'l complement of pleasure seckers. The bill presented contained pleasure seekers. The bill presented contained many well known entertainets. Mile. Oceana, aerobat and couldbrist, won appleuse for her work. Well H. Sloan and William Curley, dancers and comedians, were soon in favor, and Fiorence Welcott, in songs, was well liked. Brennan and Wheeler were amusing in a sector entitled "The Wrong overcoat," and the Fabiant Sisters, international duethists, were pleasing. Norman, the frog man, presented his well known contortion act. Others on the bill were: Short and Edwards, musical comedians; lancroft and White, in a sketch; Bella Sacha, comediane; Leslie and Tenney, comedians; Annie Leslie, erico comic singer: Ted Simonds, parodist;

HUBER'S PALACE MUSEUM, -A big house was of hand Monday, Aug. 17, to enjoy the excellent bill furnished for the current days, and the strange sights in curio hall, as well as the good work of sights in curio hall, as well as the good work of the performers employed upon the stage, gave great syristaction. Hazet Burt's Convention of Di-vorced Ladies attracts the most attention, other curio features being Paul Ketder's exhibit of Alaska relies, Prof. Frank's broom factory, Frank Le Bur a confortionist; De Kano, a fire eater, and Morris Prout, whose iong suit is sleeping. The stage sho's chagges Harry Frey's Comedy Co., in a skeich; Tadall and Alvarez, Farley and Walsh, Harry's, Mation, Madge Mack, Mons, Valario and Moye.

Kester & Bial's Music Hall.—The regular Fall and Winter season at this house opened Aug. 17, under the most favorable circumstances. The weather was pleasantly cool, and the excellent bill presented drew a crowd that completely filled the weather was pleasantly cool, and the excellent bill presented drew a crowd that completely filled the spacious auditorium. Mile. Zaeo, drapery dancer, hade her American debut and scored a success. In her act she combines the work done by our drapery and mirror dancers, excelling in neither, but succeeding fairly well in each. In Paris, it is said, she was a sensation. The Flying Jordans, aerialists, appeared for the first time at this house, and made a distinct hit with their many daring midair feats. For accuracy, ease and grace their work has been rarely equaled, and the bursts of applause attested the impression they made upon the audience. Clara Wieland, comedienne, returned to this house after an absence of several months, and at once became a favorite. She sang several new and catchy songs, and gave imitations of celebrities. O'Brien and Havel, who have long been in favor with vaudeville patrons, gave an eccentric sketch, in which they did their separate specialities and won new admirers. Mons. Delphino, musical clown; Caroline Hull, a remarkable singer; Comedienne, a'l came in for a good share of applause. The Vassar Quartet held the stage for considerable time, out did not appear to find much favor. Edison's vitascope closed the evening's entertainment. On clear nights promenade concerts will be given until further notice on the roof garden after the concert.

Garnick Tilkayrac.—This house reopened Aug. 17, for a preliminary season, with a revival of terialnment. On clear lights promease concers will be given until further notice on the roof garden after the concert.

Garrick Theatric.—This house reopened Aug. 17, for a preliminary season, with a revival of Raiph Cambley's "Thoroughbred." The play again met with a cordial reception. A new and very entertaining feature of the programme was George Grossmith's song, "Keep the Baby Warm, Mother," a clever burlesque of the patheit ballads of the minstrel stage. Another new feature of the Ascot scene was the singing of Maud Nugent, who rendered several music hall songs in a very bolsterous fashion, which lacked approval. The cast is appended as a matter of record; John Rimple, Hossie Hollowsy Fischer; Della Rimple, Jessie Busley; Lord Sandacre, H. M. Pitt; the Hon-Wihelmina Carlingham, Agnes Miller; the Hon-Bienkinsop Carlingham, Fitz Williams; A. V. Brooklyn —Even the sudden cool wave has not had a chilling effect upon the people's desire for suntour amwentents, and great crowds continue to natronize them at all the resorts.

Maniatran Racell.—The crowds that have visited this fashionable resort during the heated spell of the past two weeks has probably never before been equalled in the same length of time. The entertainments, many and diverse as they ree, have been resping a rich harvest. "Evangeline," with its ballet suitably clad for the weather, has been a good drawing reature, as of the building in which it is presented has been about as cool a plant of the cool of the following the addition of the cool of the following the cool of the cool of the cool of the following the cool of the following the cool of the following the honors with the elephants coin of the following the honors with the elephants, while the rest of the fring programme is excellent. Pain's great drawing card, and as long as the good weather lasts the management will profit at the box office.

Britistron Raciu.—The attendance at this popular resort has been satisfactory during the entire season, and the reduction of railroad farse has only brought bigger crowds of pleasure seekers. Through trains are now running from the East River bridge to the feach for ten cents, and New Yorkers can now go direct to the Beach. The Seid concert programmes to the week are of the usual excellence.

Duluth —At the Pavillon on the hilliop the Gonzalez Opera Co. closed its engagement Aug. 9, and on 10 "The Chinook," a one character play, was put on for the week. Business for the opening was fair and improved as the week advanced. Parlor Theratre.—There have been no changes in the make up of the company here for the last three weeks, and the business is not rushing, as the weather is very warm.

Notes.—Miss Gonzalez and her husband left the opera company hurriedly at West Superior, Wisters, which was the west for one week in "The Mikado," but at the last moment they took steamer here for Detroit. The company is out about $400 for the last week's pay. A Mr. Western took the remnant of the troupe and opened to poor business, as they had very little paper out. Mr. Western purchased the costumes from Mr. French, and christened the new organization the Ideal Comic Opera Co. The company will probably play the small-towns in the Northwest. Some of the members of the organization are in need of money.

Minneapolis.—The Palace Museum is the only place of amusement that is open, and the following are the people for Aug. 17 and week: The Baboon Midget, Charles Lewis, the "What is he!" Ellis and Smith, the Two Gracee, Carroll and Gardner, Mae La Verne, Bert Gilbert and Bertha Carnahan. Business is good, considering the weather.

John Owens is training about 300 children for a fairies' carnival, to be given at the Bijou soon.

Richmond.—The Academy of Music will open Aug. 21, 22, with Al. G. Fleid's Minstrels. During the Summer months workmen have been at work renovating the interior of the house. New carpets have been laid in the asises and incandescent electric lights have supplanted gas. The interior wood work bears the mark of the painters' brush, and the entire house will present a bright appearance on its opening. The bookings for the coming season as a whole are above the usual standard, both in quantity and quality. J. C. Stewart comes 23, McIntyre and Heath 25, "Eight Bells" 30, 31.

CHESS.

To Correspondents.

To Correspondents.

Paul Gross—You have seen doubtless, that Problem 2,057 is solvable in 12.; we are greatly obliged by the forwarding of your friends' communications; trust you have received a little package, and will put your own problem on one of the blanks.

EDWARD MELOAN—Thanks for your loyal enthusiasm in solving Enig 2,067. Part I, in 30., but Mr. Gilberg has done it in two less. The leading and best solution of a problem should always precede variations and short makes. Though a shade less for the first class skill displayed; you and Mr. Densmore are at ite for second place. Way Nitches —Your solution of the same Enig., Part II, is no doubt that of the author. When you say: "Glad to see that THE CLIPPER has so many high grade problems," we are inclined to add a doubt whether there is another weekly paper that really stands second to it. Dr. J. V. H., M. D.—The report is emicently satisfactor; convey our best wishes to Bro. Gardner.

WM. SCHAFER.—Your success is gradifyling; as you are included in the consequence of the control of the first class of the control of American chess editors; we shall anxiously hope and look for your recovery.

J. A. Carson.—True, we've got a "fast crowd" around our round table, and your determination to "keep in sight of the procession" is an ambition to be cultivated. Erratum.—Problem 2,088 requires a White Rook at K B 3.

Problem No. 2,070.

WHITE.
White to play and give mate in four moves.

Game No. 2,070. We open this week with an excellently fought battle in the second round, which has a golden finish.

A Sad Note.

At the head of The Balto. News chess column, of 8th inst., under the title "To all readers—important notice," Dr. W. H. K. Pollock thus announces his retirement from American chess editorship, and his departure from the American chess editorship, and his departure from the country:

"With very great regret I have to announce that I am obliged to abdicate the chair of chess editor of this column. Serious and prolonged trouble of (at least) a bronchial nature has compelled my severance from my many delightful chess associations in this country, and I am due to sail for my paternal home in Bristol on this day, if perchance complete rest and home treatment many the saddressed to me at 5 Berkeley Square, Bristol, Eng., only.

FAREWELL!"

We admit a special anxiety about the ominous intimation contained in the "(at least)."

The Nuremberg Tourney

The Nuremberg Tourney.

This tourney, the nearest rival to which was that of '83 in London, is ended, and the triumph of Fame is filled to its utmost limit with the names of the victors. Reviewing from last week, we only find much to confirm, nothing to expunge, and not a great deal to add.

Mr. Lasker's success is due to one quality alone. In genius for the game, t. e., in manipulating the chess forces, in depth, ingenuity, originality and daring in striking out combinations and conducting them logically to victory, le stands distinctly behind several of his rivals, as they have incontrovertably proved. How did he win, then? Just the how the wind the controvertably proved. How did he win, then? Just the how the wind the controvertably proved. How did he win, then? New York Wins Eight Games Out of Twelve from Brooklyn-Results Elsewhere.

New York vs. Brooklyn.

New York vs. Brooklyn.

The series between the New Yorks and Brooklyns was finished on Aug. 11, at the Polo Grounds, this city, when the former scored their eighth victory out of twelve games played between them. The locals played a sharp, snappy game from start to finish, which was quite a contrast to the indifferent work done by the visitors. Kennedy essayed to pitch, but one inning was sufficient to convince him that he was in no condition to fool the New Yorks, who appeared to be in their best form and ready for the fray. After four safe hits, including three double baggers, and a base on balls, which netted four runs, had been made off him in the first inning, kennedy gave way to Stein. The latter was very effective for four innings, but in the next two innings, between bases on balls and timely hits, the New Yorks added four more runs and put the result beyond a doubt. Meekin pitched a good game for the home team, and, although batted as often as his opponents were, managed to keep the hits well apart, and was very effective at critical stages, as the visitors had eight men left on the bases. The long safe hits were double baggers by Van Haitren, Tiernan and Davis. Connaughton made several sensational catches.

Pittsburg vs. St. Louis.

Superior batting helped the Pittsburgs to defeat the St. Louis Browns on Aug. 11, at Pittsburg, Pa. Hawley pitched a magnificent game, allowing the visitors only four safe hits, including a double bagger by Douglass, and had his support been perfect would have succeeded in shutting them out without a run, as it was a wild throw to first by Ely in the ninth inning that gave them their only run. Donahue was batted hard and often, the home team bunching their hits in the second and fifth innings, when they scored seven of the nine runs credited to them. Sienzel led in the batting, while the long safe hits, other than already mentioned, were triple baggers by Merritt and Davis, and doubles by Stenzel, Smith and Hawley. The contest was too one-sided to be interesting outside of Hawley's pitching.

John J. Anderson, who has proven such a clever player since his connection with the Brooklyn Club, of the National League and American Association, was born Dec. 14, 1873, at Worcester, Mass, and learned to play ball at his native place. His first professional engagement was with the Worcester Club, of the New England League, in 1893. He was reserved by that club for the season of 1894, but was afterward released to the Haverhill Club, of the same league, taking part with the latter that year in eighty-six championship games and ranked third in the official batting averages of that organization with a percentage of .354. His excellent work with the Haterhills attracted the attention of the officials of the Brooklyn Club, of the major league, and his release was purchased by the latter and he finished the season with its team, participating in sixteen championship games after the transfer was made, and had a batting average of over three hundred per cent, in the official averages of the major league, which was a remarkably fine showing for his first appearance in that organ ization. President Byrne was so well pleased with his work that he decided to retain him and give him every opportunity for developing himself. He him every opportunity for developing himself. He batted well for a new comer, and although he appeared to be rather awkward for an outfielder, has overcame this weakness, and is now looked upon as one of the best outfielders in the professional ranks. He was re-engaged for the season of 1805, and participated in one hundred and three championship games, all of which were played in the outfield. Up to Aug. 10, this year, he had played in the outfield. On that date, in a game between the New Yorks and Brooklyns, at Eastern Park, Brooklyn, N. Y., Lachance, of the latter, had one of his hands badiy injured by a terrific line drive off Beckley's bat and had to retire. Anderson was placed on first base, after Grim had been given a trial there, and the former gave such entire satisfaction that he will be retained in that position until Lachance has fully recovered and is able to resume his old place.

Yorks were on their first visit of the season to Boston, the visitors won by timely batting and better fielding. They batted both Sullivan and Nichols, the latter pitching in the ninth inning, hard and consecutively, and their fielding was at times on the sensational order. Clark was touched up for thirteen safe hits, but he kept them so well scattered that the home club was not dangerous until the eighth inning, when it made four runs. The long safe hits were a home run by Tiernan, and double baggers by Joyce and Hamilton.

DID HE MAKE A HIT IN LONDON? WHO? WILL. H. FOX 'PADDYWHISKI.'

RE-ENGAGED FOR THE 4TH TIME SINCE MAY 25, '96, MAKING OVER 5 CONSECUTIVE MONTHS IN LONDON. AT THE PALACE THEATRE. EXCLUSIVELY ENGAGED.

BECAUSE HE GAVE LONDON WHAT HE GAVE AMERICA, NOVELTY.

MANAGER CHARLES MORTON, of the Palace Theatre, London WHO, during the past 52 years, HAS BEEN PROPRIETOR AND MANAGER of some of the LEAD-ING THEATRES AND MUSIC HALLS IN EUROPE, SAYS: "FOX, YOUR 'PADDYWHISKI' IS ONE OF THE MOST ORIGINAL AND AMUSING SHOWS EVER PERFORMED IN LONDON. THE PUBLIC LIKE AND APPLAUD IT, THE PRESS PRAISE IT, AND YOUR LONG STAY AT THE PALACE IS PROOF ENOUGH OF YOUR WELL MERITED SUCCESS."

* ALLAN DALE, in London, writes to THE N. Y. JOURNAL, July 15, '96: "WILL IN FOX otherwise 'PADDYWHISKI," has improved since he left New York, and the Palace audiences are very fond of him. His 'Turn' is a most enjoyable one, and he gets the fourteenth place on the programme."

And I Dont Play any Patriotic Music, or Tell Any "Give-Me-Your-Kind" Gags. A SOLID HIT ON MY MERITS, WITH AN ACT, OF WHICH I AM THE ORIGINATOR.

THEY DON'T PUT SPECIAL STREAMERS ON THE BUSSES IN LONDON AND KEEP THEM THERE FOR ANYONE UNLESS YOU PROVE WORTHY OF THEM.
Talent, and Success causes jealousey among Those Who Have Neither. It's the, same in every country—if you doubt me ask Keough and Sullivan, of the dlyfipm quartette, or ike Rose—they may tell you, I can't—I'm an Elie. IT IS NOT WHAT YOU WAS—IT IS WHAT YOU ARE.—Quoted from Sam Bass, of Indiana.)
I OPEN ON THE STOLL TOUR Oct. 19, WITH THE MOSS & THORNTON TOUR to Follow. RETURN TO LONDON DEC. 28, '96. NATHAN & SOMERS ARE STILL MY EUROPEAN AGENTS.

MANAGERS WHO WANT A DRAWING CARD IN AMERICA FOR '97 AND '98,

Address WILL H. FOX, The Original Comedian Pianist,

A WORD to PROFESSIONAL SINCERS There Are Others, But These Are the Real Things. "THE STRANGER'S STORY."

The greatest and best descriptive pathwic song now published. One that every singer should have in their repertoire. When a singer is using stereoption slides, this song will be specially valuable, as the handsomest set of illustrations ever seen on any piece has been made at great expense from life and nature. Sung by BRUNS and NINA, THE SILVERS, KITTIE BINGHAM, A. C. LAWRENCE and others.

"GREAT NEW YORK,"

BY JOHN H. W. BYRNE.

The best thing of its kind since "Monte Carlo." Sung by JOHN W. RANSONE, WILL DENNY, ZELMA RAWLSTON, HARRY LE CLAIR. Spiendid words, and a melody that will be hummed and whistled by every one after hearing it once. IF YOU WANT A HIT, THIS IS THE SONG.

"SWEET ROSA DUGAN FROM HOGAN'S ALLEY"

"LOAN ME A NICKEL," GREAT COON SONG.

There are coon songs, and coon songs, most of which contain only a few words of negro dialect, the melody hav-ing no similarity whatever to the genuine coon music. "LOAN ME A NICKEL" is the genuine negro melody, with words having no equal. A SURE ENCORE, A BIG HIT. Lots of chance for a good clever singer to put in business; genuine roof raiser. Copies Free. Professional

PEOPLE IN THE CAST 12

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

In answer to a card which appeared in last week's N. Y. CLIPPER, I wish to state that the above company of ladies and gentlemen are all artists of reputation—they do not double in band, but can act. As regards the copyright of "A WILD GOOSE CHASE." I can respectfully refer to E. M. Hanley and the Donaldson Lithograph Co., Cin., Obio. "A Wild Goose Chase," as presented by this company, is an original musical comedy, in 3 acts, with a plot and I2 people in the cast, and not a hodge-podge medley of threadbare negro farces, dished up under the guire of legitimate comedy, by a cross road, little red school house aggregation of five (5) people, so called "A WILD GOOSE CHASE" (O. Time all filled. Next season will produce another comedy, entitled "A WASTY PUDDING." Come again.

ALWAYS IN THE LEAD.

CHAS. K. HARRIS' Wonderful Descriptive Song Ballads and Latest Publications; the Record Breakers of the Coming Season; Each Song a Distinct Hit; No Two Alike; New Ideas; New Themes, and Strictly Original Music.

The eyes of all Professional Singers are each and every succeedin season turned towards the Recognized Leading Descriptive Song Writer of America,

CHAS. K. HARRIS,

Who never fails to write One or More Hits during the year. He now issues the Greatest of Them All, the Soul Stirring, Senti-

"All for the Love Of a Girl."

Pure in tone, rich in sentiment, it is bound to be as widely popular as his famous "After the Ball."

- HIT No. 2:

"Which Shall It Be?"

A story taken from real life, with the grandest music ever placed a song; a song that will bring tears to the eyes of any audience.

"Then Comes the Sad Awakening."

The title tells the beautiful story. It is a song that will reach the heart.

"When the Lights Went Out"

A beautiful, pathetic, home story with a moral; a song that is a ser mon in itself, and which can be sung with propriety upon the stag as well as in the homes of the music loving people of America.

"There'll Come a Time."

The recognized hit of the East. This song needs no introduction, as it has been sung and has proven to be the sweetest descriptive song of the kind ever written by this popular composer.

HIT No. 6:

"Better Than Gold."

The standard descriptive song story of the world, which is bound be more popular the coming season than every him.

AND NOW comes the greatest coon song on earth, by the famous

JOS. E. HOWARD,

the popular illustrator or descriptive songs, of the well known team

"You'll Always Find This Goon Hanging 'Round."

If you are in need of an up to date darkey song for your specialty, don't pass this one by or you will surely regret it. Nothing like it has ever before been published, and it is bound to be a winner from the jump.

AND STILL there comes another great surprise to the singing world

HERBERT HOLCOMBE'S

Magnificent Soldier Song, entitled

"I Wonder If She Is Thinking of Me, or the Soldier's Dream."

This song will be the successor to "Comrades." It is strictly descriptive and is not for soubrettes, but for those only who can sing a soul stirring song, pure and sweet, with the grandest chorus ever written, and which will be hummed and whistled the world over, the coming season.

AND NOW for our old standby, the well known and clever actor, author and composer,

CHAS. HORWITZ,

three beautiful songs from his pen.

HIT No. 1:

"The Picture in the Locket."

A song with a story; one that will hold the interest of any audience to the very end, and will be found a hit after each succeeding verse.

HIT No. 2:

"Laughter and Tears."

The greatest descriptive song ballad this popular composer has ever written. It is his masterpiece and will live after thousands of other songs have fallen by the wayside.

HIT No. 3

Is another of his great Coon Songs, entitled

"Honey, Come and See Me."

The catchiest, cutest, quaintest and most original coon song he has ever written. These three songs will, without a doubt, prove instantaneous hits.

Our Instrumental Department

JOSEPH CLAUDER'S

"The American

Caprice Mazurka."

Which must be heard to be appreciated. Also

JOS. E. HOWARD'S

"The Howard Two Step."

Which will soon be played by every band and orchestra in the known

PHIL KUSSEL.

THIL HUSSEL

"The Newsboys' Dance."

The catchiest piece ever written.

The above three instrumental pieces are all arranged for orchestra, and will be sent free of charge to leaders of bands and theatre orchestras who will send in their address. Now is the opportunity; get them before they are played to death, as they surely will be when once they have been heard.

REMEMBER, the above songs are for professional singers only, and will be mailed to any address at five cents per copy for each song; orchestra parts to any of the above songs will be supplied to those intending to put the songs on. Do not send for them unless you have absolute need for them. The orchestrations and piano copies have been arranged by the celebrated and well known arranger, JOS. CLAUDER, which speaks for itself. In ordering enclose card or programme. If you have none on hand, but are personally known to CHAS. K. HARRIS, or have sung his songs before, write and explain, and songs will be forthcoming; otherwise card or programme must be enclosed, or no notice will be taken of your letter. Write your name and address plainly, so as to avoid all mistakes. Send in your order early, and don't wait until you hear some one else making a hit with the above songs; be the first to sing them.

WHEN PLAYING MILWAUKEE, don't fail to call at CHAS. K. HARRIS' MUSIC ROOMS, where any of the above songs will be taught to singers, and where all professionals, it matters not with whom they are, or where they are playing, will always receive a hearty welcome.

Yours, "After the Ball,"

CHAS. K. HARRIS,
